COMMISSIONERS COURT CON- SIDERS SAN GERONIMO BRIDGE CHANGE

The Commissioners' Court of Medina County met Wednesday, Oct.
30, with all members present for the purpose of receiving and examining the bridge proposal blanks for the County Engineer for the moving, reconstructing and lengthening of the San Geronimo Bridge on the Rio Medina-Castroville Road, at San Geronimo Creek. After due consideration the Court voted unanimously to advertise for bids as required by law, for the reconstruction, etc., of the bridge as per the proposal drawn up by the County Engineer. Proposals are to be obtained at the Commissioners' courtroom in Hondo. Bids must be returned to the Court on November 11th at 10 A. M. when they will be publicly opened and read.

The Court also heard the application of the Home Demonstration agent regarding the payment by the County of a part of the rental of a building in Devine to be used for the purpose of making mattresses under the governmental agricultural program. After due consideration the Court agreed unanimously to pay three dollars per month for the months of November and December, 1940, provided the balance of the necessary rental monies can be secured from other sources.

There being no further business, court recessed at noon subject to the call of the County Judge.

IT HAS RAINED

Following some unseasonably
warm weather for several days, accompanied by considerable cloudiness, the clouds thickened early Thursday morning. For a while an old-time blue northern seemed to impend. But about eight o'clock it began raining. The rainfall kept up intermittently for about an hour and the precipitation amounted to 1.32 inches.

The rain came from the northwest and meager reports indicate it was general over a wide area. The surprise came when the clouds broke after the rain, the wind subsided
and a warm sunshiny day followed.

The moisture will be helpful to pasture grass and small grain, especially if warm weather continues to prevail for a few weeks.

BOY SCOUT DRIVE ON

Boy Scout workers were soliciting
the business people of Hondo this week for funds to finance the Scout work for the ensuing year. O. A. Fly is the District Chairman and W. F.
Gaudin is the Finance Chairman in Medina Valley District, which can boast five Scout troops.

Among notable achievements of the past year are:

(1) One new troop bringing the total up to five with 81 registered Scouts, a gain of more than 47%.

(2) 28 men in training courses
for Scouting and Cubbing.

(3) A gain of 26 new Scouts for the year.

(4) A total of 11 Scouts advanced at Court of Honor.

More boys, more trained leaders
and more activities are the objectives in an attempt to build a program for the men of tomorrow, included in this program is plans for the formation of a Cub Pack for boys between the age of 9 and 12.

Mr. Gaudin, finance chairman, and his committeemen are pleased with the generosity of those who have contributed to this worthy cause and, in behalf of the District Scouts do hereby thank them publicly for investing in the youth of our country. Seventy-four contributions and four pledges were secured in the last week's drive, however, the amount secured is almost fifty dollars less than the amount secured in 1939. With the increase in Scouting in the District comes corresponding increase in responsibilities, including the financing of Scout activities. To be able to continue the good work done in this District the quota of contributions must necessarily be more than that of last year, therefore, any one who has not been solicited by the Scout finance committee and wishes to do their part toward underwriting Scouting for our youth may do so by contacting the Finance Chairman or the District Chairman. The list of contributors will be published in this paper as soon as it is compiled.

FSA AGAIN READY TO HELP WORTHY SMALL FARMERS

Jack R. Welhausen, Farm Security Administration supervisor, announced today that the FSA is once again ready to lend a helping hand to Medina County farmers who are unable to get their coming year's crop financed.

"Our loans are available," Mr.
Welhausen said, "to worthy farmers for the purpose of helping them to make a better living for their families and to increase their security on the land. FSA loans are made to both tenants and landowners if they cannot get financing from any other source.

He explained that the loans are not limited strictly to crop production purposes, but also to buy livestock and equipment that will enable them to do a better job of farming.

Loans are based on a farm and home management plan which the borrower and his wife work out with the help of the FSA farm supervisor and the home supervisor. The plan calls for the farm family to grow as much as possible of its food and feed and to diversify operations by having two, and preferably more, sources of cash income. FSA farm and home supervisors give the family advice and assistance from time to time in order to safeguard the loan and also to enable the family to make the most of its chances.

The Medina County FSA office, where farmers may apply for these rehabilitation loans, is located on the second floor in the Leinweber Building in Hondo, Texas.

BEXAR COUNTY STARTS ROAD
PROJECT, HIGHWAY 90

Purchase of rights-of-way by the county for the widening of Highway
No. 90 from 15 miles west of the city to the Medina County line will begin Monday, it was announced Saturday after the commissioners cleared technical problems in regard to county warrants.

The 10-mile strip of highway is the only remaining portion on the highway which the War Department has requested be reworked as a measure of national defense.

The court has authorized issuance of $40,000 in warrants payable in 20 years from the road and bridge funds.

The county commissioners' court Saturday ironed out problems in the method of the warrants being taken up by the investment company after titles to the right-of-way are acquired by the county.—Sunday's San Antonio Express.

REA NEWS ITEM

It won't be long now until the Medina Electric Cooperative, Inc., will have at least 200 more members
on its lines, using the electric current that is being made available by the construction of its B Project lines. The only cause for any long delay would be the failure of the required number of B Project members to have their houses wired ready for service by the time the construction of the lines is completed.

The contractor, Mr. P. E. Workman, did not report quite as much progress for last week as he has in weeks past. Rain in various sections of the Project kept his men from going out in the field on several days; therefore, he did not get but about 10 more miles of poles set and only a few transformers hung.

The conductor for the larger portion of the project mileage was received by the contractor on Thursday of this week, so when the weather clears up he will be ready to string the wires on such poles as have been set.

A crew of men started digging holes on the several extensions in the A Project areas north of the town of Hondo this week. The terrain is so rough and full of rocks in this section that the hole-digging machine
could not be used for this work.

The Board of Directors and office staff of the Cooperative wish to urge all the B Project members to make arrangements to have their houses wired immediately. At least 80% of all houses must be wired before any section of the lines can be energized, according to REA requirements. And if we all wait until the line construction is completed, or practically completed, it will mean that all members will have to wait until the above mentioned percentage of houses are wired and approved by the inspector.

An REA approved house-wiring inspector is expected back in this section by next Monday, November 4, so let's all cooperate and see how many houses we can turn over to him.

ORDER NUMBERS TO BE FIXED

With the drawing of the numbers of registrants in the draft process,
this week at Washington, order numbers were determined. After checking and printing of a master list of the order numbers thus determined, the list will be sent to local draft boards. It will consist of the serial numbers of the men and the order
in which those numbers were drawn.
After the order numbers are fixed for each man, classification of the men will begin. Mr. Earl Starnes

11.2 MILES OF HIGHWAY 90 TO BE IMPROVED

Contract was awarded Tuesday by the State Highway Department for the construction of the last gap to be widened and improved on Highway 90 in Uvalde County, when Cagle Bros. and F. M. Reeves & Sons, Inc., of Bishop were low bidders on the project. Their bid was $170,007.

The "gap" extends from a point 4.9 miles east of Uvalde, near Inge switch, to the Blanco Creek. The remainder of the highway through the entire width of the county already has been widened and improved and is one of the most modern highways in Southwest Texas.

Several of the drainage structures along the 11-mile stretch are to be enlarged and the highway along the entire stretch will be constructed along lines similar to that on other parts of the highway in this county.

OIL ACTIVITIES NEAR AND IN MEDINA COUNTY

We are informed that the difficulties referred to in getting up some of the leases on a proposed oil test on four miles southeast from town, have been "ironed out" as The News suggested and hoped for, and that drilling is to begin soon. Both oil and gas have been found near this proposed location, we understand, and the geologist who is making this location believed all the while that this location, and not the one recently drilled, showed the best geological formation. We are unable to get names of contractors but understand they have plenty of money to make any necessary tests. Will give names and exact location soon, we hope.

In Medina County, John W. Duncan and F. A. Brown's No. 1 L. A. Haby, in survey 393, three and one-half miles south of Dunlay was drilling 1065 feet. Two wildcat locations in the county are J. P. Oake's No. 1, P. Nietenhoefer estate, one and one-half miles northeast of Dunlay in survey 212, and the Cruse-turner Oil Company's No. 1 Wiemers, nine miles southeast of Hondo in the J. Bader survey 51, blk. 16.

H. T. Sellers completed No. 1, Henry Betz in the Chicon lake sector of Medina county. The well was completed at 473 feet for 1 1/2 barrels of oil per day, pumping, Valdemar and V. T. Pearl's No. 1 Medina Irrigated Farms is a location in the field and in the Hewitt survey. This test has a contract depth of 900 feet.

Mrs. J. W. Ubrich and daughter, Mrs. Welton Meyer, of Hondo were visitors at the home of Mesdames Margaret Newcomb and Fred Bowman October 15th, and attended the party of their granddaughter and niece.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

The opinions here expressed are Preston's own and not necessarily those of this paper.—M. E.

Like a woman, Congress reserves
the right to change its mind.

When the present session began in January, Congress was economy men. In the first three weeks of the session, it cut appropriations $128, 000,000 below amounts requested by the President.

By mid-October, however, "national defense" had impelled it to vote for the expenditure of $27,560,000.
Some indication of the size of this amount may be had from the fact that during the last year the biggest expenditure in any one year was $15,522,000,000.

The peak World War expenditure
amounted to $176.40 for every man, woman and child in the United States. This year's figures are $10.38 per person.

If all this money were to be spent in "national defense", a substantial portion of the people probably would be object. The trouble is that the Congressmen are using defense as a make screen for funny doings.

Every month the Office of Government Reports issues a list of "defense" contracts awarded. The War and Navy Departments invariably are careful enough with the money to figure their contracts down to the penny. But not so with some other government agencies.

Just to take one state at random,
the latest monthly report shows War
and Navy expenditures in Maryland amounting to $714,555.43 (notice the pennies figured). But the WPA makes allotments for five "defense projects" as follows: $200,000, $100,000, $200,000, $250,000 and $200,000. (They don't bother with anything less than $50,000.)

Although this might not be true, it would at least be fairly reasonable to assume that somebody in WPA decided "we must spend a million dollars in Maryland," and found five projects to which they could allocate that amount in nice, juicy round sums.

Or it might indicate a desire at WPA to allot enough money to cover
"defense projects" without advance calculation on what they really will cost. Certainly, though, if the War and Navy Departments can figure in pennies in buying guns, planes and ships, the WPA ought to be able to do the same thing in installing a new "stock accounting" system in the Baltimore Coast Guard station.

—WSS—

There's another interesting sidelight which is being emphasized by the squabble over whether Congress should recess or adjourn. Last May, majority party leaders in Congress began getting ready to adjourn in June. They said there was nothing more to do.

Congress, however, insisted upon staying in session. And since then, it has appropriated millions for defense, voted for conscription, agreed to call out the National Guard, ordered the size of the Navy doubled, and the limit on the number of airplanes which the armed services may have, and so on.

Some legislators are asking:
"Where would we be now if we had adjourned in June?"

—WSS—

Government regulations sometimes are so absurd that they would be laughable if they weren't tragic.
Take the new Wage-Hour definitions, for example.

"Executive" and "administrative"
employees are exempted from the provisions of the law. The Wage-Hour Division defines an "administrative" employee as one who works for an "executive".

But the regulations say that an "executive" must make a minimum salary of $30 a week while an "administrative" employee must make at least $200 a month.

In short, the subordinate must make more than the boss. But maybe that's the way the planners want it.

Another sample of absurdity is a recent ruling by the Federal Trade Commission, which held a sock manufacturer guilty of an unfair trade practice because he labelled his socks "genuine 6x3 ribbed".

That phrase is supposed to indicate to you and me that the socks were made in England and imported into the United States. Probably not one person in 10,000 ever heard the phrase before.

Yet the government has forbidden its use!

Florida, desirous of advertising its climatic charms, has proudly named a place "Frostproof". Alabama has its "Sunny South" and California its "Sunland"; yet no state has a post office known as "Clear" or "Cloudless".

Pleads for Farmers

J. E. McDonald, Texas Agricultural Commissioner, in a statewide broadcast Tuesday, explained that he will support the Willkie-McNary ticket because the Republican candidates offer the "square deal" for the farmers. The Willkie-McNary "two-price plan," he said, will provide an American market for American products and permit the sale of surplus products on the world market, allowing farmers to plant as they please, without dictatorial rules from Washington, as is the case under the Wallace plan.

Endowed to feel the softest breeze,

OCTOBER

New Nature has her Midas month
when she Brings out her golden store of

That tarnishes as days grow drear

In a ceremony marked by its simplicity, Miss Dorothy Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff C. Chapman of San Antonio, became the bride of Clinton C. Jagge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil. C. Jagge, of Hondo, Texas, at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, October 23, 1940, in the rectory of St. Ann's Church. Rev. Father Kuchne of St. Mary's University officiated.

The bride wore a honey beige dress of Minerva crepe with huge gilt buttons extending down the front of the beautifully molded blouse which had long sleeves and a high neckline finished with a tailored collar; the skirt styled with front fullness, and a tailored gold belt. Her shoes and bag were of brown suede and her flowers were a corsage of orchids.

The maid of honor was Miss Rose Mary FitzSimon of San Antonio who wore a wine colored velvet dress trimmed with white lace. Miss Annette Womack, the only bridesmaid, was attired in a black crepe dress with touches of red.

Herman Pargac of Victoria, former classmate and roommate of the bridegroom at St. Mary's University, was best man. James Kennedy, a fellow law student, was groomsman.

The bride is a graduate of the Thomas Jefferson High School and Tower Secretarial School of San Antonio. The bridegroom graduated from Hondo High School in 1935, after which he entered Texas A. and M. College, and later St. Mary's University where he received his B. A. degree in the June class of 1939. He then entered the St. Mary's downtown Law School where he is still a student.

Willkie Charges New Deal
Incompetence Leads To War.

Wendell L. Willkie, returning to Philadelphia where in response to an unprecedented popular demand he was made the Republican nominee for President in June, warned the American people that they are drifting toward war under a government which is incompetent to build an adequate defense in these perilous times.

After citing specific instances of unpreparedness and incompetence, Mr. Willkie declared:

"We must stop this drift toward war. We must stop this incompetence. Fellow Americans, I want to lead the fight for peace. I know how to lead that fight. I will lead this nation back to work. The first step toward peace is to put a job in every home. The second step toward peace is to mobilize American industry for the production of armaments.

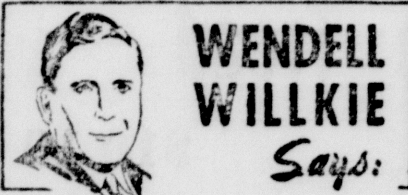

"There is a false notion that our defense problem is a recent problem; that it came upon us suddenly. The fact is that the New Deal has known for years that we were faced with this problem. The third term candidate told Congress in January, 1936, that America must save itself from foreign quarrels and foreign attack thru adequate defense. Today—nearly five years later—attack is closer than ever and America is still unsafe, our defense is still inadequate.

"What is the reason for our unpreparedness? The New Deal has not lacked information. Thru the state department and the army and navy, its total knowledge regarding foreign powers and military developments has been as good as any in the world. The New Deal has not lacked money. In these five years it has spent a total of 43 billion dollars. What then has it lacked? It has lacked the ability to get things done. It has lacked a fundamental understanding of the forces of production. It has lacked a fundamental regard for the forces that make democracy strong.

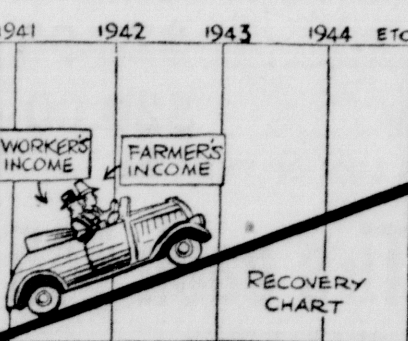

"The reason for our failure to build a modern defense system is that the New Deal theorists and the New Deal politicians blocked the creative forces of our people. They could have provided new jobs for thousands of young men by building American aircraft production up to defense requirements. Instead, they kept those thousands idle on the relief rolls. Relief was politically more attractive than defense.

"You know and I know that the system of free enterprise can outstrip any dictator on earth. The slave labor of modern Europe cannot compete with free men, well fed, well housed, and working reasonable hours. I have earned my bread both as a worker and as a manager. I know what free men can do. Given a chance to work, American labor and American industry can outstrip the world.

"So long as money and political power remain its only remedies, the Roosevelt administration will be incompetent to achieve defense. The able men on the national defense advisory council are handicapped because the third term candidate has kept all the power in his own hands. The longer the United States remains incompetent to defend itself, the closer we are drawn toward war. We must stop that drift toward war. We must stop that incompetence. I want to lead the fight for peace. I plead with you to join me in building a new America, so strong, so full of hope, that we can keep the peace that we want, the democracy that we want, and the liberties that we want."

"In failing to establish recovery, the New Deal has failed the farmer. Factory payrolls and farm income rise and fall together. When farm income is up, farmers buy more manufactured products, and thereby increase employment. It is equally true that city workers buy more farm products when their incomes are increased. "I have pledged myself to win recovery for America. This pledge is just as important to the farmer as it is to the business man. And I know how to fulfill it. I will, with your help, bring this nation of ours together."

LANGLEY'S LUCK

By Gloria Brumby

"I will crush you, I will crush you," hisses the wheel of time as it turns round and round, sucking in millions and millions of humans. Sooner or later it gets them. First it crushes the little pigmy souls who have no desire or no strength to beat it. The stronger ones hurry and scuttle and escape its onward might for a while, but they too are sucked under the giant wheels and devoured by the powerful machine. TIME crushes ALL against its whirling rollers and all are mangled and torn—sooner or later.

The telephone bell tinkled sharply and John Langley came suddenly to his senses. "Langley speaking," he said easily, and as he listened great big pearls of perspiration stood out on his forehead. He was in a devil of a fix. Worse than he had ever been in his turbulent forty-five years of life. "God," he breathed, when the receiver was finally hung up. "It can't happen like that. I must get some kind of break. All these fool speculations can't have gone wrong."

Langley flung himself down on his chromium trimmed desk and buried his face in his hands. Of course he would get a break. It was only the little fellows that were drawn under. He would put a cog in the wheels of time, arrest their death-dealing gyrations until he could beat the game. BUT HOW?

His broker would not be here for an hour yet. He was not going to turn thumbs down because that ass, Milford, predicted a storm ahead. He would change its course, the same way that he had hundreds of times changed the course of the law in a professional lifetime. "Langley's Luck," was what his contemporaries called it.

Back in his boyhood days on the Idaho farm he had organized hunting and trespassing expeditions and it was always the other boys who were caught and punished. He, their leader, had always escaped the consequences. Then when Teddy Wilton was killed it was just his own rotten luck. What if Langley was driving a horse with a sore on its neck and the beast had bolted and kicked Teddy on the spine. The young idiot ought to have jumped clear of the hay cutting machine as he had done.

At Blane College John Langley also got the breaks. He had squeezed thru to a diploma when more brilliant and industrious fellows had flunked, and then he had picked up old Judge Ramsden that dripping afternoon. "Fine, sensible young man," that Langley, said the Judge to Professor Graham when Langley was about to graduate from Law School. "Suppose he would be interested in a job with me?" And John Langley had been very much interested indeed.

He had not along, hung on by his toenails when others had fallen off and been crushed. He had married Mabel Morham right over George Fraser's head, and met George's funeral procession on the way home from the church. "A man is a weak fool to shoot himself over any woman or anything else, for that matter. Any sort of a man keeps going on, and not being can crush him. The survival of the fittest. And John Langley smiled wryly over his reveries. The wheel of time had turned round and round and drawn many of John's comrades to failure, dishonor, disaster and death, but John always had got the breaks.

Robert Milford sat down on the red leather chair and refused the cigar that Langley extended. "You look rickety, old chap, what's eating you?" said Langley suavely. "See here, Langley," said Milford, a note of impatience creeping into his voice. "The situation is too bad to joke about. Every red cent of your client's sixty thousand has gone and no juggling of yours or mine or anybody else's can bring it back again."

"Bah," sneered Langley. "You talk as if I were an old maid playing the ones with her relief money. I'm bound to get a break before old Jackson calls up his money."

"I suppose you know that he is talking about buying that hotel on Girard Avenue and he will need the money to put the deal thru," broached the broker. "I counseled caution, but you were so sure of a fortune overnight, and the results are, very disquieting."

"So what. Just leave me alone and I'll think of something to hold Jackson off till I get the breaks. Anyway, half the lawyers in this city play with their client's money and get away with it."

But Milford was skeptical. "It's a crazy adventure at the best," he said laconically. "So long, I'll see you in the morning. Maybe your luck will be working by then."

Langley frowned. He knew the bursting of the bubble had occurred and he was at his great wit's end to know what to do. Tomorrow everybody would be calling him a dirty thief.

He pushed a button for his secretary after a while. "I won't probably be in the office tomorrow. Take care of things and get me a taxi." "To the Grand Central Terminal," he told the driver.

He bought a railroad ticket and strolled on to a platform, and stood there for a few minutes watching the great locomotives start with a snort, then lumber off, slowly at first, then faster and faster.

He walked to the end of the long platform and the cars gathering speed whizzed viciously by.

Suddenly he lunged like a bull in the ring, waiting to charge the terrors.

A strong arm gripped his coat and held him tightly till the last car passed. "Say, Mister," said a voice. "What are you trying to do anyway? To get yourself crushed beneath them great wheels?"

"Go to hell," Langley muttered, shaking himself free, and walking away from the platform, out of the station.

He stopped to buy a newspaper. Might as well know the worst as fear it.

On page 2 he read this announcement. "Thomas Jameson, of Axton, Idaho, a retired farmer sojourning in New York City, died of heart disease early this morning. Mr. Jameson was negotiating to buy the Riverby Hotel on Girard Street. The bulk of his large estate it is understood goes to his friend and counsel, Mr. John Langley, the well-known attorney."

ARE WE OSTRICHES?

Dear Editor:

Each time I read a new issue of FLETCHER'S FARMING I find something that I am sure cannot be equaled again, for interest and worth while reading, and then the next issue comes and there is an article or story or letter or poem, always something, that is a pleasant surprise. The true story, Memories of the Civil War, by Margaret Lockhart, its accompanying photograph of The Old Tavern and editor's note, is more than worthwhile, enjoyable reading it is a potent reminder of, and to, our own childhood memories. As well as serving as valuable history also. I am reminded of the interesting stories that my husband's maternal grandfather told us many times of the Indian raids, of how they hauled grain for milling, the long prairie miles from Fort Worth to Jacksboro, and had to always be on the alert for unfriendly Indians. It is truly interesting to hear first hand accounts of those incidents that we have studied about in school.

Our CORNFIELD PHILOSOPHER has a bit of potent advice for us this month too.

I wish that every person in the UNITED STATES who can read could and would read your magazine, before November 5th! I have never felt so positively that people should take notice of what goes on here in this glorious country of ours. I am aghast that something has not been done before now, about this approximately seventy-five billions of dollars that this country will be indebted by the time this new dealing is over with, or before! I have long been of the opinion that of the millions of MEN in these United States that there are many more than ONE who can HELP to run this government. And any one with a grain of the good old horse sense would know that the mere words "I will keep the United States out of war" is not going to do so! Those words could be shouted until the crier is "blue in the face" and still not be even a stumbling block within the path of events. And can these people not look ahead and back as well, and be horrified that we and our children will be faced with something more appalling and deadly than even a war? The pain and sorrow of war is quick. The slow torment and apprehension that a mortgaged future holds for us who must repay through years of depression, for these debts which the NEW DEAL has heaped upon this country! How do these people think that these debts can be canceled? That the government will take care of it? The government will certainly take care of it. Who will pay? WE THE PEOPLE. "We the people"—The new deal has done SO much for US. Yes indeed. There are people by the thousands in this state where the new deal has been most generous with its mortgaged relief d-les, who are hungry and homeless! What would happen if the relief were stopped? Well, what would? Do these people think that to issue more mortgaged relief funds will pay for those already used? It seems as if a lot of us might be likened to an ostrich, in as much as the old phrase accuses him of sticking his head in the sand in time of danger. We dare not face the time of payment, but still, what WOULD these people DO if there were no relief? What DID these people DO before the new deal hatched this relief egg? What we had better become concerned with is cleaning up the mess before it completely contaminates these States as well as these People.

Picking cotton in the San Joaquin Valley the autumn of 1936 I heard the father of, and head of his family, several children, say, "I got a job I can go to if F. D. R. is not re-elected, but if he is I don't need to work!" As truly as there is a Supreme Being, those were the exact words he spoke, this father of a family, and he is only one out of several hundred that I heard personally, speaking along the same ideas. Do you think that he will vote to keep the new deal? To elect for a third term the man he holds responsible for this "money without work"? I know that it is true also that there are good honest people who seem forced to accept relief. And yet there were people before there was any government relief, who were helped with "dole" perhaps, but it was paid for! By THE PEOPLE who were willing and able to pay.

People can make mistakes. A man can do good. But if the goodness is mortgaged charity, does it continue to be good, especially when the doer can well understand that the mortgage will not have to be met by his own efforts? To relieve a sore is to rub on a temporary salve. But do we think that we can cure the cause thus? We know that we cannot. If the sore becomes worse and more dangerous do we BUY more salve, OR CHARGE, more salve, when we can readily see that it is only an outside relief and could, not by the wildest imagination, ever effect a cure? It seems we would. In this case. We aren't wise enough to effect a cure so we just do the good deed and rub on more salve. What if the salve does cost money, we have to do something, any one could see that! So we do. And the patient is soothed, the pain isn't so bad that HE MUST do something about it then either.

Eventually the remedy will fail to lull the pain, but we can't be worried about that now. It hasn't failed. Yet.

I expect I get over worried about things that I can do nothing about, but you can perhaps imagine the help, to my ideas, that you do with your magazine. I am glad that there are people who are in a position to do good, who will so eagerly carry on in the fight to abolish rub-on methods!

Thank you for the truths you staunchly publish.

Sincerely, LELA WILLHITE.

DREAMS AT TWILIGHT

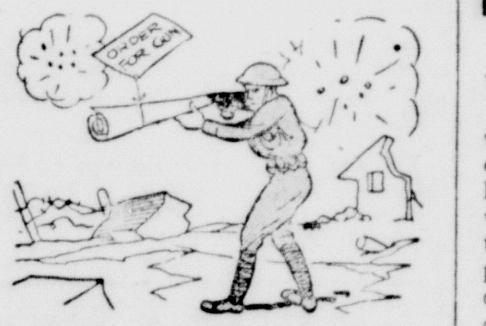

Sweet dreams at twilight, bring me back to you; Back to the old home where everyone is true; Back to my mammy, with hair of silvery hue; Back to the old homestead... back to love... and you.

While I am wandering across life's desert arid, My heart is longing for loved ones far away; I want the old folks, and friends both kind and true; I want the sweet content of love and home and you.

—OLIVE SCOTT STAINSBY.

"Maybe it is all right for the politicians to assume that an order for a rifle is the same thing as a rifle. But a doughboy has never been known to make that mistake."

NEED INSTRUCTIONS

President Roosevelt Should Tell Mayor Hague to Obey Law.

President Roosevelt talks a great deal about keeping bright the fires of democracy. But in Jersey City his henchman, Mayor Frank Hague, Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and ardent third term supporter, thwarts the workings of democracy by refusing to install voting machines as directed by the State Legislature. What does Mr. Roosevelt say about that? Nothing.

All Promise, No Performance

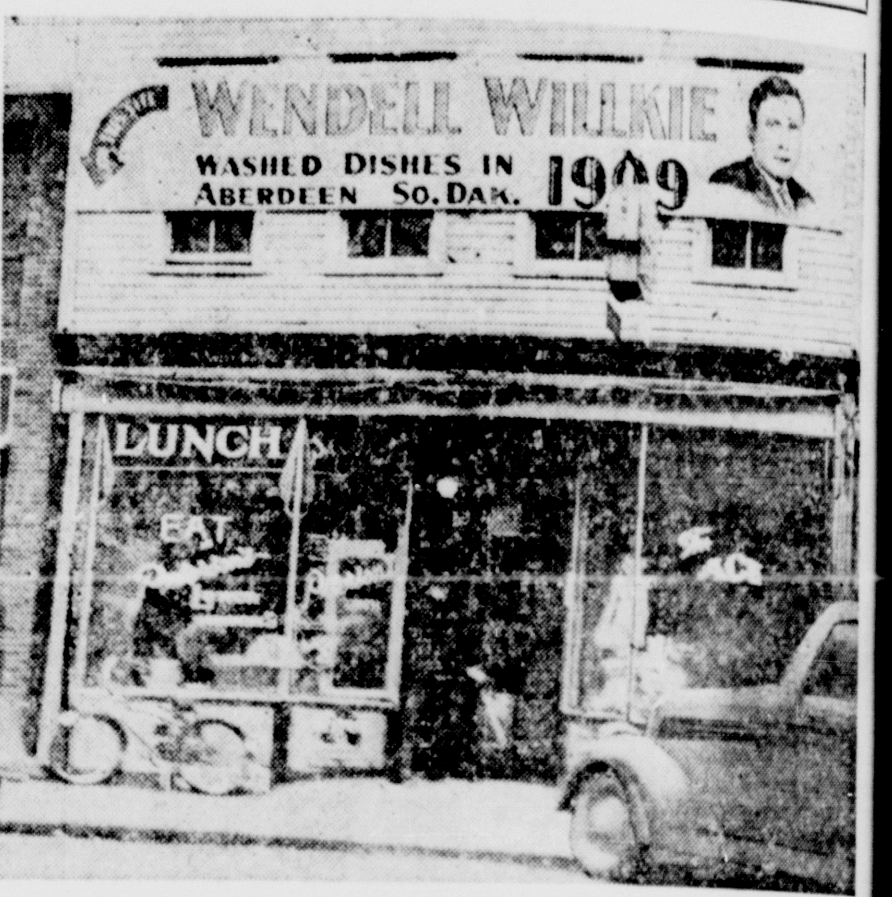

Including his campaign pledges, President Roosevelt has promised to balance the budget no less than eleven times. During the seven years of his Administration, however, Mr. Roosevelt has never balanced the Federal budget. The average annual deficit for these seven years has been $3,237,400,000.

Movement of livestock from Texas ranches to Fort Worth stockyards and to other states for July dropped 20.5 per cent from July, 1939. Only 4,632 cars were shipped, consisting of 2,614 cars of cattle, 741 cars of calves, 565 cars of hogs and 712 cars of sheep. Cattle shipments were down 9 per cent, calves 43.8 per cent, hogs 12.5 per cent and sheep 27.8 per cent. During the seven-month period from January 1 to August 1, 40,951 carloads of livestock were shipped, 16.8 per cent less than during the corresponding period last year. Cattle movement has dropped 22.4 per cent, calves 12.5 per cent, hogs 10.1 per cent—3.1 per cent—over the first seven months of 1939.

Where Wendell Willkie Once Washed Dishes

Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for president, washed dishes as a youth in this Aberdeen, S. Dak., restaurant, using experience he gained when working his way thru college. When asked about his job as a dish washer Willkie said he worked in the Aberdeen restaurant "long enough to get a raise." Candidate Willkie has returned from a campaign tour during which he visited 18 western states. As a young man he worked as a harvest hand on farms in several of these states, an experience which contributed to the sympathetic attitude he holds toward the problems of the farmer and the laboring man.

WOMEN ENLIST IN VOTE DRIVE FOR WILLKIE

Twenty years ago American women were preparing for their first vote in a presidential election.

In Detroit, two thousand women voters from 40 states, representative of 3,000 clubs under the banner of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, gave testimonial to their 1940 political preparedness, and their enthusiasm for the 1940 magnetic standard-bearer.

Wendell Willkie. With Miss Marion E. Martin, women's division director, Republican National Committee as their leader, Republican women workers were lined up for an intensive October "doorstep drive" to carry the plea for Republican Party candidates to every household in the country.

"Get every vote in the ballot box" is the rallying slogan, adopted by over one million workers in the "Women for Willkie" campaign.

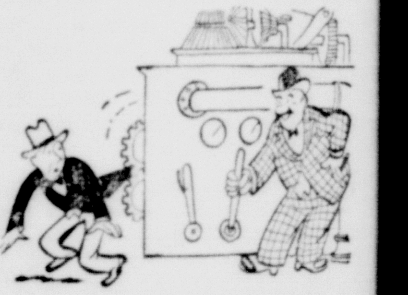

In that Detroit meeting was the nucleus of the great army of workers, none of whose names evinced more interest and acclaim than a group of five distinguished wives—Mrs. Wendell Willkie, Mrs. Charles L. McNary, Mrs. Robert A. Taft, Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg and Mrs. Frank Gannett.

Cost of New Deal At the assessed valuation, it would take all the property of Illinois, Indiana and two-thirds of Wisconsin—farms, buildings, mines, crops, railroads, utilities, automobiles, stocks, everything that has value—to have paid the cost of the New Deal government for 1939.

Little Left Out of each dollar earned in America, 54c is spent for food, shelter and clothing. Taxes, either hidden, direct or both, take another 27c. The remaining you may spend for church contributions, recreation, or what you will. In 1910 taxes took only 5c of each dollar.

"I ask you to send me to Washington as your uncontrolled representative who will work only for the preservation of our democratic way of life. But among the people who should not vote for me are those controlled by the corrupt and nauseating party machines that are dominating some of our major cities. I am proud that these machines will do their best to defeat me. "America, in order to be strong, must be clean. America, in order to be strong, must have the full functioning of the democratic process, free from the control of corrupt political machines."

Less Than Half In 1930 the sale of American farm products to foreign countries amounted to $1,496,000,000. With New Deal reciprocal trade treaties with sixteen countries in force in 1939, our sale of American farm products had dropped to $683,000,000—less than half of the 1930 figure.

Farm Imports Increase In 1937 this country imported 68,277,000 pounds more meat than we exported, while in 1932 we exported 146,192,000 more than we imported. In 1932 our markets for American farm products were protected.

Government Guaranteed Six government corporations have outstanding bonds amounting to $5,416,600,000, all of which is guaranteed by the government, but is not considered by the New Deal as a part of the government debt.

Typical of New Deal. An insurance inquiry in Massachusetts revealed that relief was being given to some families having incomes up to $4,000.

Keep Out of War Is Vital Issue

U. S. Voters Must Make Important Decision Nov. 5th.

The number one issue in this campaign is to keep our country out of war. This is the opinion expressed by Raymond A. Moley, former new dealer, confidante and intimate adviser of President Roosevelt, who is now an ardent supporter of Wendell Willkie for president.

"I am for Willkie because I believe he will conduct our foreign relations better than Roosevelt has," declared Mr. Moley, who considers the number two issue of the campaign to be "to save our country from becoming an autocracy, which it will be if President Roosevelt is elected to a third term."

General Robert E. Wood, soldier and business man who was responsible for supplying the entire military establishment of the United States during the World War, addressing the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations declared that "the present policy of the Roosevelt administration is bound to involve the United States in war. You cannot stay with fire and not get burned. You cannot have your government not private manufacturers—transfer its equipment to foreign powers; you cannot have your government in an unofficial alliance with a foreign power; you cannot be a meddler in China, or berate Italy and Germany, without eventually involving the nation in war."

"I believe that a majority of the people who are advocating 'aid short of war' do not desire us to enter the war," General Wood declared, "but there are others who do desire us to enter the war, who are taking the necessary steps to prepare the American people for participation, who would enter the war tomorrow if they dared, who are today in practical alliance with England, and unfortunately they are the people who are shaping our national policy today. You hear men—and men who ought to know—that we will actively enter the war within 60 days after the election."

"We are being edged into the war without the masses' knowledge. If the United States enters the war it would start with a debt of 50 billions and the cost of the war will mean an ultimate debt of 100 to 150 billions and will end with great economic allocations. It is up to the American people to decide whether they want to make these sacrifices to preserve not England, but the British empire, and help regulate Europe and Asia. But they should make the decision with all the cards on the table, not misled by artifice and subterfuge."

Farmers Hit by New Deal Trade Treaties

As of November 1, 1939, under the New Deal's Trade Treaty program, American import tariffs have been reduced on 1,003 commodities, of which 397 were reduced by 41 to 50 per cent. All reductions made in the various trade agreements have averaged 39 per cent below the rates fixed by Congress in the Tariff Act of 1930. Yet—duties on agricultural products have been reduced and 95 of these were reduced from 41 to 50 per cent. From the fiscal year 1932 through 1939 total value of American imports increased 20.2 per cent. Non-agricultural imports have increased only 10.5 per cent, while competitive agricultural imports—agricultural products which compete with the American farmer—increased 29.6 per cent during the same seven years. Imports of non-competitive agricultural products, however, increased only 11.8 per cent.

Passed On to You
Every purchaser of merchandise of any kind pays as taxes more than $1.00 on each $4.00 he spends. That is the hidden taxes which are passed along by the producer to the consumer.

He Stands for Peace

This is how Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for president, looked in 1917 when he volunteered for service as a private in the army one month after the United States declared war. After four months of intensive training he was commissioned a lieutenant, then spent a year in training camps in this country and served several months under fire in France.

Having first-hand knowledge of the horrors of war, Mr. Willkie has made this solemn pledge to the American people:

"If you elect me president I give you my word of honor I will never send an American boy to the shambles of the trenches of a European war."

More Jobs, Less Taxes Is Willkie's Pledge

"It is absolutely impossible," Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for president, declares, "for a government to go on supporting a growing number of unemployed. Somebody has to pay the bill. And that bill is going to be paid by those who have jobs."

"The average income per individual in the United States last year was only $540. The average tax paid per individual was $110. One-fifth of our national income goes for taxes. And the biggest item on the tax bill, aside from defense, is relief for the unemployed. Taxes don't anywhere near cover it. So the New Deal borrows the money."

"In seven and one-half years it has borrowed $22,000,000,000. This can't go on indefinitely. The one and only remedy for this increasing public debt is jobs."

"Now what makes jobs? Business makes jobs. Little business, big business, corporations, partnerships and small companies. Under our system if we are going to have jobs we have got to have employment. Measured by the standard of our growth (1900 to 1929) we are short about 700,000 enterprises, short 700,000 employers."

"The New Deal has helped make unemployment by picking on business. Under the New Deal the employer who puts up money to make a profit has been in the dog-house. I am not interested in profits as such. I am not interested in employers as such. But I am interested in both employers and profits as a means of making jobs for those who are unemployed, better jobs for those employed."

On High Authority

A Democratic candidate for President, in an address delivered in New York on Nov. 3, 1932, said something which can hardly be improved upon as an answer to the New Deal's prize argument for the third term. "A great man," he declared, "left a watchword that we can well repeat—'There is no indispensable man.'" The "great man" referred to was Woodrow Wilson and the speaker was Franklin D. Roosevelt!

Willkie To Win, Polls Indicate

Nationwide Trend Points To Sweeping Republican Victory.

Wendell Willkie and Senator Charles L. McNary are riding the crest of a Republican trend that will take Mr. Willkie to the White House and will elect Senator McNary as the next Vice President of the United States.

This view is confirmed by all polls of recent weeks, including the Gallup poll, which have indicated a surge of voters to the Republican standard bearers and wholesale desertions from the ranks of supporters of the New Deal Third Term candidate.

The indications are also that this trend against the New Deal will be further accelerated and reach overwhelming proportions by the time the voters go to the polling places on November 5 to cast their fateful ballots.

Most significant of all prognostications on the outcome of the election is probably that made by Emil Hurja, noted statistician, who was the political analyst for the Democratic National Committee, under the Chairmanship of Jim Farley, from 1932 to 1937, and who in 1936 predicted with uncanny accuracy that Roosevelt would carry all but two states in the last national election.

Mr. Hurja now predicts with equal positiveness that Wendell Willkie will win on November 5 by a majority of from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 of the popular vote, carrying the electoral vote of the states in New England and the Eastern Seaboard, the Middle West and the farm belt, more than enough to insure his election.

Mr. Hurja even goes further, declaring his belief in the possibility that Willkie may win by landslide proportions, securing a majority of from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 of the popular vote. Says Mr. Hurja of the trend Republicanward: "This swinging of the political pendulum from the Democratic to the Republican side is noticeable in each of the eight geographical regions of the United States and it is sharply revealed in the reports of each of the several other polls now busy sampling opinion on a nation-wide scale."

"The marked sweep of the pendulum Republican-wise is the outstanding characteristic of the present campaign from a pollster's point of view. And the swing itself is occasioned by this fact: the percentage of voters who intend to change party allegiance this year is much higher among those who voted for Roosevelt in 1936 than among those who voted for Alf Landon."

The Dunn Survey, compiled by Rogers C. Dunn, statistical analyst of New York, who has been engaged in making polls of political trends for the past six years, flatly forecasts that Wendell Willkie will win 27 States, with a total of 334 electoral votes or 68 more than the 266 required.

Said Mr. Dunn: "Should the trend toward Mr. Willkie continue, as is believed to be likely, the outcome of this election by States is expected to be similar to the pattern of the Presidential election of 1920, when the Republican candidate received 404 electoral votes."

Startling are the results of polls made by the New York Daily News, a pro-Roosevelt newspaper, which has Willkie leading in a state-wide poll of pivotal New York State with 50.6 per cent of the vote to the Third Term candidate's 49.4 per cent. This is the first time in the history of the Daily News forecasts, which have been very accurate in previous elections, that have shown the Republican Presidential nominee leading in the state.

Newspaper polls taken in Illinois, Ohio and other states also show Willkie leading and all indicate the marked Republican trend.

But polls are really not needed to substantiate the marked swing to the Republican ticket. It is evidenced by the steadily mounting enthusiasm of Republicans in every State, the tremendous receptions Mr. Willkie, Senator McNary and other Republican candidates and speakers have received wherever they have appeared and the growing realization by the electorate that the decision to be rendered on November 5 is literally to determine the future of the Republic.

Your Interest Charge

Interest paid by the United States Treasury on the Federal debt for the year ending June 30, 1940, was over $1,040,000,000. This was $8 for each man, woman, and child in the United States and a $40 interest burden alone on each family of five.

THIRD TERM? NO!

On November 5th the voters of the United States will affirm their approval of the sound judgment of the delegates to the Democratic national convention of 1896 when they adopted this plank in their platform:

"We declare it to be the unwritten law of this Republic, established by custom and usage of one hundred years, and sanctioned by the greatest and wisest of those who founded and maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office."

McNary Pledges Better Deal Than New Deal

"The farmers of America—yes, all the people—are entitled to a better deal than the New Deal. The next administration, under the leadership of Wendell Willkie, will not be afraid to break new paths. Nor will it be afraid to follow old and neglected trails that once served us well."

This is the message to voters on the farms and in the cities, as they go to the polls next Tuesday, from Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican candidate for vice president and for 20 years the champion of the farmers' cause in the United States Senate.

"The goal we seek for agriculture," said Senator McNary, "is simply this: the American market for the American farmer at the American price. When wisely worked out by the next Administration and conscientiously administered, that formula contains all the law and the prophets for agriculture. That is my considered judgment after 20 years service on the Senate Committee on Agriculture; after listening to literally thousands of proposals for farm relief."

"I favor, as I have for 20 years, the two-price system for crops with exportable surpluses; plus tariffs reserving the American market for the American farmer."

"We shall reach this goal—a goal at which the vast, partially used bounty of our continental domain shall be made available to all of us thru the old-fashioned practices of work, thrift and intelligent application. That seems a homely method. I believe it is a true one."

WENDELL WILLKIE Says:

"I call on you to join me in this great crusade to build a strong and free America—this crusade to make

jobs, to put our country back to work, to give the nation back to the American people.

"We are fighting a foe entrenched, a foe that is smug, a foe that is powerful in the use of money and more powerful in the use of pressure. But if you help, we cannot fail. Don't be afraid. America would not be the land of the free if it were not the home of the brave."

"More than ever before in history, the American people hold their own fate and the fate of other nations in their hands. More than ever before in history, it is for them to mould the shape of things to come. Their decision will be born on a single day—Tuesday, Nov. 5—when the people choose their government for the next four years."

"On that day let them not choose a government for which peace is just a word; a government of attitudes and poses, a government whose promises still are, and will remain, on order. Let them choose rather a government that will make peace a reality; a government that will get things done to make them strong; a government that can turn to any dictator and say: 'This is America. And it is all on hand.'"

Big Progress in Chick Care and Feeding Since 1900

Weight at Six Weeks Increased 150%; Livability Almost Doubled.

Tremendous progress has been made in poultry raising the past three decades. Both in chick feeding, and in chick management have new and important discoveries been made.

Before 1900, chicks hatched out into a world where bugs, worms, weed seeds, corn bread, rolled oats, table scraps and clutter were the chief starting feeds. Only the strongest had a chance to live. They were hatched and brooded under hens. More than half died before they were six weeks old and those that did live seldom weighed more than a pound at six weeks.

In 1900, commercial scratch feeds for chicks were first placed on the market. Chicks fed these feeds showed an improvement over those on the "bug-diet." In 1904, a leading feed manufacturer brought out a laying mash for hens, which many poultrymen used as a starting feed. Although not intended for them, chicks came through the six weeks starting period far more satisfactorily on his feed. Sixty-five per cent of them lived, with an average growth of three-quarters of a pound at six weeks.

Alfalfa Meal Added

The addition of alfalfa meal to the laying mash fed baby chicks was one of the important innovations of 1915. The same feed manufacturer who had brought out the first laying mash pioneered alfalfa meal, a vegetative source of minerals, vitamins and proteins.

Research workers now turned their attention to the problem of preventing rickets in young chicks. This leg weakness which sent many chicks to an early grave, could be prevented, it was found, if enough vitamin D was included in the starting ration. Good grades of cod liver oil provided this necessary vitamin. In 1922 cod liver oil became one of the standard ingredients in chick feed. The addition of cod liver oil greatly simplified brooding since an abundance of vitamin D in the starting feed eliminated the necessity of keeping chicks in the sunshine to absorb vitamin D from the sun's rays.

80% Livability With Startena

A red-letter year in chick history came in 1922 when Startena, a special mash feed made to fit the nutritional needs of baby chicks, was put on the market. Although somewhat inadequate judged by the standards of 1937, Startena was a decided improvement over any feed up to that time. By feeding Startena, chick raisers found that livability could be stepped up to 80 per cent, and the weight at six weeks increased to seven-eighths of a pound—almost double what chicks had weighed previous to 1900.

But there were still other valuable discoveries to be made. In 1928, soy bean meal, a rich source of protein, was added to checkerboard Startena, and chicks did even better than before.

The year 1930 saw the appearance of all-mash Startena, a complete, all-in-one starting feed that solved the problem of what to feed baby chicks. Almost every nutritional need of the chick was met in this new all-mash starter. Only ten per cent died, and at six weeks birds averaged one pound.

Disease Cut Down

Since 1930, progress has been even more rapid. Feeding, breeding, and management have been tremendously stepped up. Improved incubation has resulted in stronger chicks. Improved brooders have greatly helped livability. Chicks today have every opportunity to live, compared to the chicks of thirty years ago who chilled in drafty houses or followed their mothers around in damp grass. Efficient sanitation agents have been very helpful in keeping surroundings and drinking and feeding troughs clean. Disease and infection have been cut down.

Since 1931, all minerals that go into Startena have been carefully balanced so that chicks get exactly the right amounts for best development. Proteins were synchronized in 1932, and the texture improved. Since 1934, ingredients going into checkerboard Startena have been biologically tested for growth. The net results of balanced minerals, synchronized proteins, balanced texture and bio-testing of ingredients was 93 per cent livability, bigger bones and better feathering, and an average weight of one and one-eighth pounds at six weeks.

Puratene, Pro-Vitamin A, Added

What a feast grandmother's chicks would have on today's Startena! In 1935 one of the most sensational and important announcements in animal nutrition was made by Purina research workers. A rich pro-vitamin A concentrate called Puratene, which it was found, could be profitably utilized as an ingredient in poultry mashes, was announced to the poultry world. The addition of Puratene was found to produce smooth plumage and healthier pullets. Chicks fed on mashes fortified with Puratene are guaranteed all the vitamin A they need for bodily requirements. As a result, livability at the present has been stepped up to 95 per cent and the weight at six weeks to a pound and one-quarter. The addition of Puratene (vitamin A) to chick feed means better and faster growth.

City and Country Advantages

Great cities have the advantage of concentrated wealth and man power. They also have the disadvantage of too many inducements to lead an "easy life." Smaller communities have, as a rule, a wholesomer atmosphere. They are not kept on edge by the cut-throat competition that prevails in the more highly competitive life of big cities. A more neighborly, friendly spirit pervades them. They live more naturally.

HOFFMANN-MEHR

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning, October 20, in St. Louis Church in Castroville when Miss Gertrude Mehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mehr became the bride of Wilford Hoffmann of Randolph Field.

The impressive nuptial high mass was performed by Very Rev. Dean J. Lenzen, pastor.

The church was beautifully decorated with floor baskets of seasonal blossoms.

While Alfred J. Schmitt played the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" the bride entered in the following order: the maid of honor, Miss Mildred Mehr, sister of the bride; the bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Hoffmann, sister of the bridegroom; followed by the little flower girls, Mary Louise Jungman, niece of the bride, and Velma Marie Wurzbach.

The bride entered with her father and they were met at the sanctuary by the bridegroom and his attendants, Milton Hoffman, best man, and Eugene Suehs.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white brocade satin. Tiny satin covered buttons extended down to the waist in the back. Her finger tip veil of tulle was caught up to the head with a halo of orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a locket worn by her grandmother, and she carried a cascade shaped bouquet of white carnations and fern.

Her attendants wore gowns of Alice blue water wave taffeta. On their heads were worn tip-tilted hats of Alice blue. They carried wrist bouquets of pink carnations.

The flower girls wore short pink dresses made similar to the bridesmaids. They carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Ushers were Harry Haby and Eugene Jungman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman left during the afternoon for a brief honeymoon trip. The bride's traveling dress was of sailor blue with matching accessories.

AHR STARS AS CASTROVILLE LOSES CLOSE ONE TO WEIMAR

Weimar, Texas, Oct. 25.—The rambling Castroville Public High School Comets six-man football team was beaten 19-12 tonight by the heavier Weimar High School Wildcats. The score at the half stood 12-6 in favor of Castroville; but by the end of the third quarter, the Wildcats had scored again to equalize matters. One 192 lb. Edward Rabel, a Wildcat wingman, got loose in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter and romped 30 yards around the Castrovillians' left end for a touchdown. The conversion via the aerial route tallied for the extra point.

Constant aerial and end run threats from Weimar were in Burtt-schell, Rabel, Kusy, and Vacek. Vacek, a 142 pound quarterback, showed the stands the better points in having pickup, loose hips combined. The Wildcats best ground gainers were their powerful end runs.

The smoothest passing attack that the Wildcats have witnessed this season was acknowledged by all the Weimar fans and players to be that of the Comet passers in diminutive Hans and Geiger. Long accurate passes were made by these boys to Weiblen and Ahr almost at will.

For the Castrovillian club the highlight of the fray was the snatching of a 30 yard pass and running 40 more yards for a touchdown by Norbert Ahr in the last 15 seconds before the half ended.

The Weimar fans, coach, and the whole football team want it made clear that the Castroville team as a whole was the best bunch of sports they have played this season. They say these boys knew how to play hard, as well as to laugh it all off after the fray was over.

RIVALRY HIGH IN D'HANIS-CASTROVILLE GAME SATURDAY AT D'HANIS

D'Hanis, Texas, Oct. 29.—Announcement has been made by Supt. Herman Couser of D'Hanis Public School system, after a conference with Supt. and Coach Al Vance of Castroville Public School, that the D'Hanis-Castroville game will be postponed from Friday afternoon to Saturday afternoon at 3:00 P. A large crowd is expected since this game is a deciding factor in reckoning district honors in the north zone as well as been rivalry among the players of each site. The change is due to Friday being All Saints Day, a fact which would keep several from both towns seeing the game.

OWLS TO BATTLE UVALDE COYOTES

From THE OWL.

Next Friday night the Hondo Owls will play their third conference game, the opposing team being the Uvalde Coyotes. The Coyotes record thus far this year is not very impressive, although they have won both the conference games which they have played. They have been victorious over Sabinal by tying them 0-0, but winning on penetrations, and over Devine by a score of 12-6.

Hondo's conference record so far this season is a 33-6 win over Devine and a 26-0 victory over Brackettville. The Uvalde team will outweigh the Owls ten or twelve pounds to the man. Their line will be one of the heaviest the Owls will run against this year with the possible exception of the Del Rio line. Although the record of the Owls is

Owls Hurdle Second Conference Game

From The Owl.

The Hondo High Owls copped their second conference victory last Friday night by defeating the Brackettville Tigers 26-0. The entire team showed some improvement over the previous game with Devine and everyone was out there hustling and fighting hard. Blocking was much better in this game, as well as the fine playing on the defense.

When the game began Brackettville kicked off to the Owls with Weyand taking the ball on his own eighteen and returning it to the thirty-five. On the first play Embrey held the ball on a reverse and made five yards through the center of the line. Hartung then took the ball outside right tackle for eight yards and a first down. Embrey made three yards through the center and Finger then made four yards around left end; on the third down Hartung took the ball outside tackle but fumbled and Brackettville covered the ball. The Tigers made nine yards on the first play but on the following three they were stopped on the line of scrimmage and the Owls took the ball on downs. Embrey made a nice gain through center, but there was a fifteen yard penalty against Hondo for using the hands which left the Owls first and twenty-five. Hartung gained five yards around right end, and Finger took the ball around left end but was downed behind the line of scrimmage. Weyand then punted to the Brackettville thirty-five. The Tigers made a first in three plays, but failed to gain much yardage in the following four downs and again the Owls took the ball on downs. With first and ten Hartung went outside tackle for no gain and Embrey made one yard through the middle of the line. With third down and nine Weyand punted to the Brackettville safety but there was a fumble and the ball was recovered by Weyand. On the first down a pass was incomplete from Embrey to Hartung. Embrey then made four yards on an off guard play, and a pass was then completed to Hartung for a gain of six yards and a first down. This ended the first quarter, Hondo's ball on the Brackettville thirty-five.

With first and ten Embrey went off right tackle for two yards; then a pass was completed from Embrey to Finger for the first score of the game. Finger caught the ball on about the thirty-five and crossed the goal line standing up. Hartung converted for the extra point which made the score 7-0 in favor of the Owls. Hartung was back to kick off for the Owls and sent the ball down the field to the ten yard line. The Tigers made a first down in four plays but failed to make another in two plays and on the third down Brackettville fumbled and Hondo recovered. Finger took the ball around left end on the first play and gained four yards, then Embrey smashed through left tackle for two yards, and on the third down Hartung went outside right tackle for one yard, with third and three Weyand punted the ball out of bounds on the four yard line. On the first play Brackettville punted to their own thirty-five.
